Energize Science: Join Us as a Manuscript Reviewer!

Are you ready to make a significant impact in the world of scientific research? The Ohio Journal of Science (OJS) is calling on scientists and engineers like you to step up and become manuscript reviewers. Your expertise is a driving force in shaping the future of scientific literature.

Your Mission - Advance Scientific Knowledge:

As a manuscript reviewer for OJS, you'll be at the forefront of cutting-edge research. Your role is pivotal, and you can expect to review one, and possibly two, scientific manuscripts submitted to OJS. Your insights and evaluations will help steer the course of scientific progress.

OJS is Searching for Manuscript Reviewers in Diverse Fields of Expertise:

We're extending a warm welcome to all scientists and engineers, whether you're in academia (faculty, postdocs, or graduate students), industry, or local/state/federal agencies. If your expertise lies in any of these fields, we want you on our team:

- Animal Sciences
- Behavioral and Social Sciences
- Biochemistry
- Biomedical and Health Sciences
- Biomedical Engineering
- Cellular and Molecular Biology
- Chemistry
- Computational Biology and Bioinformatics
